15th ANNUAL HUSKER DAYS

During the month of September, the Eastern Nebraska Veterans Home will be having "Husker Days." Husker Days is our way of getting ready for the Husker Seasons.

We will show our support through many different activities, such as Go Big Red Days, a tailgate party, a pep rally, and Husker trivia, just to name a few. Members can earn points any time throughout the month of September, which they will be able to spend at the Husker Auction. Members will receive points by attending any activity during the month of September or by wearing red on the Fridays of the month. Members will receive more information on points.

GET TO KNOW OUR TEAM

We are pleased to introduce Katie Mahar-Flock as our new Volunteer Services Coordinator. Katie is an Army brat originally from Syracuse, Nebraska. She attended the University of Nebraska—Lincoln for her Bachelor's degree and the University of Arkansas for her Master's degree. In her free time, Katie enjoys photography, being outside, and spending time with family & friends. Katie can't say no to chips & queso or ice cream.

Welcome Katie Mahar-Flock!

THE GARDEN CORNER

Virginia Mountain Mint. Virginia mountain-mint is a stout perennial, becoming multi-branched toward the top of its 2-3 foot height. Tiny, white, mint-like flowers, often spotted with purple, are arranged in numerous small, dense clusters. The clusters, which bloom only a few at a time, arise from the leaf stem tips. The foliage of this leafy plant is covered with a whitish bloom. Its common name of mountain mint is somewhat misleading since the plant typically occurs in moist soils in wet meadows, swamps and along streams and ponds. You'll find this plant in the rain gardens. Insects love them. They make a wonderful pollinator plant. And, yes, they do have a minty aroma. Run your fingers gently across the leaves and give them a sniff. They're in full bloom now. Enjoy them!

August 17th at 10 a.m., we will have our quarterly memorial service for the members we lost in May, June and July.

Many of us are accustomed to being in the "helper" role instead of being the one needing help. Or, as in the case of my role as a chaplain, being the one praying for people in special need instead of being the one in need of prayer. God has a way of using life's circumstances to remind us that we ALL are dependent on Him and on one another. Personally, I appreciate your prayers with my present health situation. I have been blessed with good health through my nearly 75 years of life. However, this summer I have discovered that I do have thyroid cancer and prostate cancer. I will be having my thyroid taken out on September 19th and will be taking radiation treatments for the prostate cancer beginning in later October. These are both very treatable cancers and I am thankful for the good team of medical providers that God has provided, as well as for the network of special people in my life (which includes you). It is good to be both the one praying for another as well as the one being prayed for by another. Thank you!
